

Tommy Tinker's Irish Poem

A time for greenery and magical four-leaf clovers Gardens decorated for St. Patrick's Day Fairies enjoy all the tiny cakes and cookies Frosted in green and white Covered in enchanted sprinkles Teas and parades to celebrate Leprechauns dance and sing and hide treasure Only they know where the rainbow ends.

