

Tommy Tinker was sipping a cup of fairy blossom tea on the porch of his fairy home in Fairy Headquarters when the fairy post arrived. Tommy loved his tea. It was made from secret magical ingredients which fairies from all around the world collected to make the special blend. A letter fell out of the sky and landed on Tommy's knee. He set his cup on a table he had created from branches that had fallen during a storm in a nearby forest. As he did that, his sixteen-year-old niece Susan came outside carrying a bowl of fairy cereal. It was filled with sweetness which fairies loved.
